

Chip Supply Transition FAQ Page

- 1) What is the formal/legal business name now? Chip Supply, Inc., dba Micross Components
- 2) What is the business status of Chip Supply, Inc., dba Micross Components? We are still a small business.
- 3) Has there been any change to Chip Supply's Federal Tax ID, Dun and Bradstreet No., CAGE Code, or other similar numbers/identifiers? No, because we are accomplishing our name change by virtue of Chip Supply, Inc., doing business as Micross Components, the underlying corporation is still in existence, and the numbers and codes issued in the Chip Supply name remain valid.
- 4) Has there been any change to Chip Supply's quality certifications? Chip Supply will maintain all of its existing quality certifications because of the continuation of the underlying corporation as explained above. Renewals and additional certifications, which are forthcoming, will be issued in the Micross Components name.
- 5) Has Chip Supply's NAICS (North American Industrial Classification System) code changed? No, it remains the same – 334413/Semiconductor and Related Device Manufacturing.
- 6) Is there any change to Chip Supply's accounts receivable information? Yes, both our remit to and wire to addresses will be changing, and the updated information will be forwarded to customers, individually.
- 7) Is there any change to Chip Supply's accounts payable information/requirements? No, our bill to address remains the same and although vendors are encouraged to invoice us as Micross Components, we will continue to accept invoices made out to Chip Supply.
- 8) Is there an updated W9 available? Yes, as of May 23, 2011, new W9's from Chip Supply, Inc., dba Micross Components will be available upon request.
- 9) Will product information be changing? For standard products produced to fulfill orders or contracts booked on or after May 23, 2011, both the date codes and part labels will reflect the Micross Components brand. For custom parts, changes will be addressed with customers on a case by case basis.

For additional questions, please feel free to contact Scott Smith, Director of Sales, at 407.296.5706 or scott.smith@micross.com.